BOOKWORK
FANCY PRINTING, POSTERS
CIRCULARS, PAMPHLETS, CARDS, &C.
ENGRAVING & LITHOGRAPHY
BINDING & RULING

RICHARD D. WEBB & SON,
PRINTERS,
177, GREAT BRUNSWICK ST.

Dublin, Nov. 18 1862

Dear Mr Chapman - I thank Ellen for Ellen Brown's photograph which is intended to mimic back to all my friends who knew & respected the memory of Ellen Brown, her noble hearted brother. I sent to Mr Childs pamphlet when I got your letter & they ~~the~~ my agent said he feared they had all been distributed. However I kept the my receipts & tracts, & he in a few days sent me I found a bundle of about 50 of which I send you 50 by post. In this way they will cost you about a dollar & each packet in each side of the water. There will be a much pamphlet way than any other can be cheaper & perhaps Quicker as cheap when the rail of hair mail to Liverpool & London in the first place is ~~contained~~ considered. How I fear you may in your second visit find they have to many of the tract by by. I cannot that I advise you circulate that you send to the best of my judgment & I make it a point to send nothing ~~of~~ merely to fill up it.

between the years past many tracts of papers have passed through my hands which I have had to encounter with discretion & it has often happened that I was able to subserve the interests which they could not otherwise obtain. I have been of much assistance, Stephen & others in this way.

As to John Brown the best plan will be to send you 75 Copies which you can place the charges of freight, duty, &c. and when sold you can transmit to me for those sold. (the real sufferer) whatever you can afford to pay, keeping that amount which is so much out of the fire and I can leave you with do as you for his or Ann would for themselves. Consulting with Sibley a sale for the book, which I venture is her principal design. She is a most generous, free spirited woman.

If the Democrats get the offices hand & manage to deliver the South over into the hands of the South, & our nation there England will find she has sent her Southern sympathy to a bad market. No South, South worthless ruled by bankruptcy democrats will be a better enemy than a free South would have ever been. I wonder the ~~South~~ pro southern feeling in these countries to these things

1st The hostility or unfriendly of the Americans to all laws to the enforcement of a good & powerful republic

2nd The dread of American hostility which has been so often indicated by the conduct of ~~to~~ Your government & the language of Your newspapers.

3rd. The prevalent ignorance of Your position and governmental arrangements which has led the people generally even to the intemperate statements of such men as Seward & the writers in the Times

4th The fact that the Southern Agents have been sent to work in a particular way to turn the London newspapers, Reviews, Magazines &c to their own purposes in the hope of war.

That England has been so easily made virtually partizans of the Southern States evidences a preponderance of unfriendly feeling towards democratic institutions which is much to be deplored

The result will I suppose come whenever in the long run — but I fear the run will be a long one. I wish with all my heart you had not to marry & live so long away from — they are a miserably bad natured people.

I am about to cut short. With my kindest regards to Your family
I subscribe that I am in sober truth & sincere affectionately Yours

Rufus Choate

MS-B.1.6 v.15.p.92